A. INTRODUCTION

It is the duty of the Delaware Public Archives (DPA) to administer, implement and enforce all provisions of the Delaware Public Records Law. In order to fulfill its obligation to the citizens of this state, the DPA is fully committed to providing assistance, expertise, and guidance to agencies to ensure that their records are properly managed and disposed of using collaboratively developed and legally binding guidelines. These procedures are outlined in the Retention Schedule Instructions.

Contained within this document are the approved Retention Schedules that list the records commonly used by the Department of Agriculture.

This schedule is used in conjunction with the general state records retention schedules. If a record series is not located on one of the retention schedules within this document or on an agency specific retention schedule, please contact the Information Resource Specialist (Analyst) that is assigned as the liaison to your agency.

The listed retention periods are the minimums necessary under normal conditions. However, they do not override federal or state law, litigation requirements or good judgment. Records may need to be retained beyond the recommended retention periods due to audits, litigation, or changes in legal statute (see Audit/Legal/Statutory Requirements). Records required beyond the recommended retention periods must be retained until cleared by the appropriate authority. As a reminder, Delaware Public Records Law requires the consent of the State Archivist prior to the disposal of any state agency records (Title 29 Delaware Code, §504).

The DPA has assigned an Information Resources Specialist (Analyst) to each state agency (see Agency Assignments). The agency Analyst is a valuable asset that should be consulted frequently regarding policies and procedures or to provide technical advice to the agency's management team, records officers or authorized agents. Furthermore, the DPA recommends that agencies survey their record collections on an annual or semi-annual basis in order to identify records that may be moved to off-site storage, destroyed, or imaged in compliance with the General Records Retention Schedule and Agency Specific Retention Schedules. By following the retention instructions as set forth by retention schedule, an agency may achieve significant savings in space and labor, ensure the preservation and security of valuable documents, and protect against liability for improper handling of official records.

C. SCHEDULE FORMAT

Below is an explanation of the format of the Records Retention Schedule:

Series #	Series Numbers are alphanumeric designations assigned by an Information Resource Specialist (DPA Analyst) to identify the agency's records (Record Series).
Series Title and Description	The Series Title is the title most commonly used by an agency to identify records or items based on their filing arrangement or how they are maintained as a unit. The Description identifies typical documents found within the record; it explains their function, purpose and possible relationships to other records and organizations.
Confidential / Vital	Confidential: Confidential records are records that are not open to the public in order to protect the privacy rights of individuals or the security arrangements of locations, persons, places and items as defined by law. Federal and State statutes and regulations determine a record's confidentiality status. Restrictions to public inspection of confidential records may apply to the entire record or to discrete portions of information enclosed in the record. It is the agency's responsibility to identify records containing confidential information. Confidential records should always be handled to ensure the security of the information within.  Vital: Vital Records are those records that are required to ensure that an agency is able to function during an emergency, disaster, and recovery operations. Furthermore, they are records that are crucial to protecting the legal and financial rights and interests of an agency and of the individuals directly affected by its activities. The agency is responsible for identifying which of their records are vital. The primary protection method for vital records is through duplication and dispersal. These records should be identified in record backup plans, contingency plans, migration strategies (eRecords), to ensure measures are in place to safeguard these records. (e.g. COOP)
Retention and Instructions	Specific instructions directing the minimum retention period and disposition actions for each record series. Instructions indicate length of time that the record should be retained by the agency, the location of the records, and the events or time-period that must occur before disposition of the record series can be effected. Retention periods must abide by the minimum of time determined by state and federal statute; however, records may be retained longer as warranted by best business practices. Exceptions to the retention instructions are noted.
Date Approved/ Revised	Date that the record series was added or revised
Agency Notes	Notes regarding the development of a retention schedule that include Statute requirements and other references to assist the agency records officers and management teams in future development or modification of the schedule
Retention Schedule Modification History	Provides a brief history of the record retention schedule, including the development and modification may occur to the record series.

E. BENEFITS OF RECORDS MANAGEMENT

Centralized management of records is essential in government agencies. Effective records management programs enable agencies to:

- Identify and protect vital records
- Identify records with enduring value (archival records), that track the development of government policy
- Improve customer support
- Improve the performance of storage and retrieval systems through files management.
- Improve the accountability of public funds.
- Increase the efficiency and productivity of office operations through better accessibility and faster retrieval ability
- Reduce the costs associated to support record storage: equipment, supplies, office space, and personnel.
- Reduce information duplication and waste by standardizing processes within an agency so personnel know where and how information is stored and how it may be retrieved
- Reduce the legal liability risks by keeping records according to retention schedule
- Reduce the volume of records stored by destroying records that have reached the end of their retention and transferring permanent records to archives
- Apply available technologies to manage electronic records that can improve both information handling and public service delivery
- Reduce the amount of electronic records and thereby reducing the total costs of ownership associated with paying fees for backups, maintenance, migration, recovery and infrastructure support

Government records document the conduct of public business and are the "memory" of government. They contain information on the administration of public policies and programs, the decision-making process, development, and origin. Furthermore, government records provide a means for monitoring activities and programs, accountability, document, protect the rights of citizens, and define the obligations of governments.

F. HELPFUL HINTS FOR RECORDS MANAGEMENT

The Retention Schedule contains the listing of records series used by the Department of Agriculture. As noted in the introduction, the instruction provided within this schedule reflects the minimum length of time a record series shall be retained by the agency, the DPA, or in certain cases by both. Records Officers and Authorized Agents should contact their DPA Information Resources Specialist regarding any questions concerning records created or maintained by their agency.

The following suggestions will be helpful when using this publication:

1. To be successful at records management, the General and Agency Specific Retention Schedules will become the most referenced document in your agency's program. Their purpose is to provide instruction on the how long to retain records and the statutory or business practice requirements.
2. Become familiar with the General Records Retention Schedule and the Agency Specific Records Retention Schedule. The General Records Retention Schedule is divided into sections according to the category of record, (e.g., accounting and financial, administrative, electronic, and personnel).
3. Review the State General Records Retention Schedule and Locate all records used by your agency. If a record cannot be located within a record series in the General Records Retention Schedule or the agency's records retention schedule, contact the Information Resources Specialist so that the record may be analyzed and added to the agency's schedule.
4. Identify the records that have met their recommended retention period. Insure that all audit requirements have been met and litigation proceedings finalized prior to destruction (see Audit/Legal/Statutory Requirements).
5. Do not destroy any records until you receive a copy of the Destruction Notice that is signed by the State Archivist, authorizing the destruction. Agencies will receive an official notification of all approvals or denials.
6. List records eligible for destruction on a Destruction Notice. Record titles should be worded exactly the same as listed on the retention schedule. The Destruction Notice must be authorized/signed by the records officer, authorized agent or agency head. This authorization certifies that all the records listed, have met all state and federal audits requirements, all audit reports have been accepted, and all issues resolved. Furthermore, that no legal actions are pending to which the records may pertain. In addition, it certifies that all images generated from the records have been verified for completeness and accuracy. The Destruction Notice must be emailed to the DPA. For more information, please refer to the DPA publication: User's Guide for Destruction
7. Make a Content List (inventory) of all the records that are eligible for transfer to the State Records Center for storage, or the State Archives for permanent preservation. Review the records using the appropriate Retention Schedule and then complete a Content List (this is a Microsoft Excel Spreadsheet that is created by the Government Service section of DPA) and the Transfer Document. Email the Transfer Document and the Content List (Excel spreadsheet) to the agency's DPA analyst or the Analyst Team mailbox (AnalystTeam@state.us.de) to coordinate arrangements for the transfer of records. For more information, please refer to the following DPA publications for further information regarding the transfer of records: Preparation of Records for Transfer to DPA, User' Guide to Storage and Use of Archives Boxes, and User's Guide for Transfer.

8. Records that are eligible for document imaging must be prepared according to DPA procedures. Contact your DPA Analyst if you have questions regarding these procedures. For more information, please refer to the following DPA publications for further information regarding the transfer of records: User's Guide for Imaging Support Request Form.
9. Confidential records shall be destroyed in a manner that ensures no breach of confidentiality will occur. The DPA offers destruction services for confidential records, this service requires an approved Destruction Notice.
10. Examine any and all of your agency's storage areas. Older records are frequently discovered in attics, basements, closets, stairwells, sheds, vaults, warehouses, etc.

G. AUDITS AND STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

Audit Considerations:

Records subject to successful audit must be retained for the periods listed in the General Records Retention Schedules or in any Agency Specific Retention Schedules. During that period, the records must be audited, and have all questioned expenditures, procedures, or other issues noted in the audit report, satisfactorily resolved and/or all recommendations for changes have been implemented and approved by all applicable federal and state agencies.

If state and federal funds are commingled on a project, then the longer retention applies. After all audit requirements have been met, those documents having a permanent retention status should be imaged or transferred per retention schedule instructions.

Agencies are responsible for knowing all audit requirements and other specific program regulations that apply to their records. This information should be obtained from the agency/grantor that is administering, funding, or licensing the program or grant. An all-encompassing retention description cannot be stated in every case. Refer to the terms of the state or federal grant.

Legal and Statutory Considerations:

Federal and state statutes and administrative regulations are subject to change. When this occurs, agencies may be required to retain certain records for a longer period than indicated in the retention schedules. In these cases, the administrative code, statutory, or regulatory requirement take precedence to the retention schedule instructions (Title 29 Delaware Code, §524). Additionally, agencies must contact their assigned DPA Information Resource Specialist to update their retention schedule so that it complies with the applicable legal statutes.

Records that are involved in any legal action must be retained until after exhaustion of all legal appeals, challenges and remedies, even if they have met the minimum retention requirements.

Confidential Records:

Records may be deemed confidential by statute or by the personal nature of the information contained therein. Records designated as confidential on the General Records Retention Schedule or agency retention schedule should be maintained and handled in a manner that will ensure that the confidentiality of the information is not breached. If a record's confidential information cannot be separated from information that is not confidential, the whole file or series should be maintained and handled as a confidential series. Not all record series can be identified on the General Records Retention Schedule as confidential. It is the agency's responsibility to determine the confidentiality of these records and maintenance thereof. Confidential records transferred to DPA for storage, document imaging or preservation must be identified.

H. NON-RECORD MATERIAL

Non-record materials are not “record” in character because they do not serve to document the function, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, finances or other activities of the organization.

When in doubt: When it is difficult to decide whether files are record or non-record materials, you should treat them as records. You should consult with DPA to determine the record or non-record status of a particular file.

Non-record materials may include:

- Blank forms
- Duplicate Copies: duplicates of any documents or publications kept solely for convenience and ease of reference
- Business Catalogs, trade journals, and other similar publications or papers that are not created by the agency, require no action, and are not part of a record series upon which action is taken
- Government Publications (External) or processed materials that are received from another activity or office that require no action and are not required to support any other documentation (the originating office is required to maintain record copies)
- Government Publications (Internal) or processed material inventories for which an official copy has been already been retained by the agency for record purposes (See Delaware Documentation)
- Sample letters and Templates (samples/templates of letters used by the agency that contain no real information)

Shredding (crosscut) is the approved method of destruction for records containing confidential or sensitive information (e.g. names, addresses, DOB, financial data, SSN, etc.). Once records are shredded, they may be recycled.

It is highly recommended that non-records materials be maintained separate from the official records to avoid confusion. An agency’s records management program should include a process that regularly scrutinized records to remove non-record materials.

To establish retention periods for current records and provide for proper disposition at the end of their active use.

SECURITY COPY

Copy of a vital record that is stored for security purposes in a location apart from the original records Used to restore data in case of an emergency or disaster

VITAL RECORDS

Vital Records are those records that are required to ensure that an agency is able to function during an emergency, disaster, and recovery operations. Furthermore, they are records that are crucial to protecting the legal and financial rights and interests of an agency and of the individuals directly affected by its activities. The agency is responsible for identifying which of their records are Vital.

Working Papers

Working papers are Records. Do not confuse "Non-records" with "working papers". Working papers are public records assembled or created in the preparation of other records, and are needed to trace actions, steps, and decisions covered in the final or master record. These may include rough notes or calculations used in the preparation of audits, budgets, studies, or reports that are not fully represented in the final product. They support the final product, but are not fully represented by the final product and may offer important evidence concerning how the final product was derived.
